

General Guidelines for dealing with Conflicts of Interest of Intermediaries, Recognised Stock Exchanges, Recognised Clearing Corporations, Depositories and their Associated Persons in Securities Market.

Circular Reference: SEBI has issued circular No. CIR/MIRSD/5/2013 dated August 27, 2013, providing general guidelines on Conflicts of Interest of Intermediaries, Recognised Stock Exchanges, Recognised Clearing Corporations, Depositories and their Associated Persons in Securities Market.

Background: All Intermediaries shall adhere to these guidelines for avoiding or dealing with or managing conflict of interest. They shall be responsible for educating their associated persons for compliance of these guidelines.

Protect Your Online Trading Account Passwords:

Don't share your password details with others and change the Passwords regularly. Create passwords that are unpredictable and counter intuitive, and don't use the same password for different accounts. Do not store passwords in a file on your PC or laptop as they are at risk if your computer is services or stolen.

LOGOUT:

It is very important to terminate each online session when you are finished by clicking the "Log out" link on the site. If you merely type in another address, or close or minimize the web browser window, it may be possible for unauthorized users with access to the same computer to gain access to your account information. Retrieving this information could be as easy as clicking on the Internet browser icon, pressing the browser's Back button, or recalling a browser's Internet History.

Securing Internet-Connected Computers :

1. Keep your computer up-to-date with the latest security updates.
2. Install a firewall and anti-virus software on any laptop or PC with wireless connectivity.
3. While accessing your personal financial information online, you should have a secure web connection at all times. The web site address should start with "https://" instead of "http://" and you should see a secure symbol such as a closed padlock or key on the status bar in the lower right part of your screen.

Respecting Your Privacy :

The privacy of your personal information has always been important to us and we are committed to respecting your right to privacy and protecting your personal information against unauthorized disclosure. We would like to inform you that our staff is trained to respect your privacy in accordance with our standards, policies and procedures.
